RAIN WANTED IN ALBERTA STATES C.P.R. CROP REPORT

Winnipeg, Man. June 24.—Apart from districts affected by high winds, which have been severe this spring, and absence of June rains, the crop throughout the west is showing excellent development and moderate growth, wheat being from four to twelve inches high, with good standing according to the report of the agricultural department, C.P.R., issued on Monday.

In Saskatchewan—Heavy rains fell in southwestern central and some parts of northern Saskatchewan during the week with scattered showers in other parts. Heavy rain is needed in the southeastern portion and in the north close to the Alberta border. Some slight hail damage has been reported, and where moisture is scarce cutworms are at work, but with no extensive damage reported so far. Crops are showing a good stand, but here, too, more rain with warmer weather is needed.

In Alberta—Crops in northeastern Alberta are suffering from want of moisture, but conditions in other portions of the province are generally favorable. Last week's weather changed from early heat to cool during the middle, with a few degrees of frost in Red Deer and Alberta Central subdivisions. Scattered rains to heavy showers were received, but mostly in the south where crop and moisture conditions are excellent, with wheat from four to fourteen inches high. With heavy growth, however, probably more than usual and frequent rains will be necessary to bring the crop to a successful conclusion. Conditions in the Peace River continue very favorable with intermittent rains which kept crops growing well. Depredations of wireworms throughout the province have been arrested.

WETASKIWIN WINDOW WINS SECOND PRIZE

The first week of May was known among grocers throughout the Dominion as Tomato Week, and a Dominion wide advertising scheme was worked out by the Canadian Packers, packers of the Aylmer Brand of canned goods, and prizes were offered for the best grocery window made up of Aylmer Tomatoes and Tomato products, photos to be sent in to the head office and judging done from there.

The Star Store took part in the contest and the grocery staff dressed an Aylmer window in competition with the stores of the four western provinces, and this week word was received to the effect that this window had taken second prize and a check enclosed for the amount.

A splendid letter of congratulation was received by the staff, stating that as a much larger number of entries were received this year, an unusual amount of credit is due for the effort exerted by Mr. Lord and his staff at the Star Store.

near old site, was referred to the Town Planning Committee for report. Gas. Hay was granted building permit for coal shed.

C. H. Russell, City Solicitor, reported that he had prepared an agreement between the City and the Wetaskiwin Sports Association. The agreement was read, discussed and referred back to committee to have additional clauses added.

L. D. Montgomery addressed Council asking for relief for Otto Price. He was voted relief of $10 a month until his pension is received.

The following accounts were passed for payment: General, $1062.45; Waterworks, $1475.55; Electric Light, $1052.85; Supplemental, $437.47.

The matter of painting the fire hall was considered and prices from Whyte & Orr, Ltd., and R. M. Snyder & Co. for paint were received. Tenders for the work of painting the fire hall one coat, were also opened. The matter was deferred until final estimates are prepared.

The action of Public Works Committee in purchasing a barrel of asphalt preparation for demonstration purposes was approved.

It was agreed to purchase four 50 lb. drums of weed exterminator at a cost of $25.00 for experimental purposes.

G. Knott was engaged as policeman during vacation of Chief of Police Kingzett.

The Utilities Committee recommended that a new water well be drilled on the corner of Gould and Pearce streets (south of water tower) and that Chadwick Bros. be given the contract at $20.00 a foot.

Mr. Drowley, a C.P.R. engineer, reported on the draining of the slough north of the city. He considered it was not feasible to drain the slough, as it would require too deep a ditch. A profile of the ditch will be procured for the office file.

Johnson & Johnson offered $25.00 an acre for property north of the round house. Offer was not accepted.

A rental of $10.00 an annum was charged L. G. Kelley for lots used as wood yard, and the committee will report on the charge to make Harry Sharlow for his yard.

The Finance Committee was authorized to offer the debentures for sale.

Bylaws Nos. 455 and 456, authorizing the sale of property to Arthur Rippon and Andrew Bohres, respectively, were read three times and finally passed.

The meeting adjourned.

HEARD IN THE HALLS OF LEARNING

"Well, how did you like that?"

"Wasn't it a-a-a-r-d!"

"Say, that was a snap; I got every question."

"Anyway, I wrote fifteen pages."

"What did you get for question three?"

"Nobody has the answers I have!"

Every day, about noon and five p.m., such expressions as are quoted above are to be heard at the Alexandra School after students for three hours, have been putting their thoughts on paper. Weddings

CALLIES—PASEMOK PASMOKO—CALLIES

A very beautiful double wedding was solemnized at the Manso, Wetaskiwin, on Saturday, June 22nd, at 10 o'clock in the morning. The second son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Callies, Rev. A. L. Elliott was the officiating minister. Mrs. Frederick Richard, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony with Pauline, the fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pasemok, of Lamont, and at the same time, John Henry, fourth son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pasemok, was united in holy wedlock with Bertha Margaret, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Callies.

Mrs. Pasemok was the officiating minister. Mrs. Walter of Le Pas, Manitoba, director of ceremonies, and Dorothy Callies and Louise Hewko, little flower girls.

Both brides appeared very lovely, each wearing a bridal veil with orange blossoms, a necklace of pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Mrs. Pasemok's gown was of pale pink georgette lace and Mrs. Callies' of white satin and lace, both being very dainty. The little flower girls were also very attractive, Dorothy wearing a dress of white georgette and Louise a dress of pink tulle and white lace.

After signing the register and receiving congratulations, the wedding party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hewko, Blithem Lake, where a very dainty wedding breakfast was served.

Later in the day the bridal party left for Banff by motor, intending to stop at other places on their way. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Callies will reside on the farm about two miles east of Wetaskiwin, and Mr. and Mrs. Pasemok on their farm two miles south of Blithem Lake.

Their many friends join in extending their best wishes to the happy young couples throughout life.

COMMITTEE DELVING INTO PROBLEM OF CURRICULUM

Edmonton, June 25.—Under the chairmanship of G. Fred McNally, supervisor of schools, the committee nominated by Hon. P. H. Baker, Minister of Education, as a result of a resolution passed at the recent session of Legislature to revise the provincial high school curriculum, met at the legislative buildings on Thursday to discuss preliminary in connection with this revision.

Those in attendance were: Dr. R. C. Wallace, president of the University of Alberta; E. L. Fuller, high school inspector, Edmonton; C. O. Hicks, principal, Victoria high school, Edmonton; Munroe McLeod and A. J. Watson, Lethbridge. J. A. Smith, high school inspector, Calgary, was unable to attend on account of illness.

The main purpose of the discussion was to determine whether the curriculum should be lightened and, if so, whether, through a reduction in the number of subjects, or a lessening of the intensity with which they are presently studied.

A comprehensive study of the whole question is under way by the committee and a report will be submitted.

HON. W. S. FIELDING, VETERAN STATESMAN, DIED SUNDAY

Ottawa, June 24.—Right Hon. W. S. Fielding, former minister of finance, died at his home here at 10:25 o'clock last night. He was in his 81st year.

For 15 consecutive years Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada, and for the 12 preceding years Premier of his native province of Nova Scotia, the Right Hon. William Stevens Fielding, patriot and statesman, left a record that is perhaps unique in the political history of Canada.

When Wilfrid Laurier gathered together his cabinet of provincial premiers, following his elevation to power at the head of the Liberal party in 1896, his choice for the Finance Department fell to the lot of the prime minister of Nova Scotia. That the selection was a most happy one is best demonstrated, perhaps, by the fact that when 25 years later Sir Wilfrid's successor in the leadership of the Liberal party was charged with the responsibilities of office, following an opposition period of 10 years, Mr. Fielding was again called upon to head the Ministry of Finance.

The quarter century involved had proved the most important period in the history of the premier dominion of Greater Britain, and in all that had made for the political and economic growth of the country, William S. Fielding had played a most conspicuous role.

Plaster train and steamer service between Paris and London has been inaugurated in order to compete with the air traffic. The time will be reduced to five hours and a half—only one hour more than by the air route.

United Farmers Session at Lacombe Endorses the New Rural Schools Act

Members of Federal House And Hon. Mrs. Irene Parly Among Speakers—Several Resolutions Presented—Public Ownership and Control of Electrical Resources Endorsed

Lacombe, June 22.—The annual U.F.A. convention of the federal riding of Wetaskiwin is in session here with a large number of delegates and supporters in attendance. The U.F.A. met Wednesday in the church hall and was addressed by Hon. Mrs. Irene Parly on the subject of child welfare and education. She urged the need of a study of the individual needs of each child and warned against a form of education that would turn out all pupils in the same mold to the impairment of their own personalities. She referred to the trend of education away from the farm to other lines and maintained that in Alberta there should be more teaching to keep the rural life popular.

Mrs. Price of Stettler, spoke on the opportunity of farm life, the value of the women's vote and the need of women studying the civic questions of the day. She emphasized the need of acquainting oneself with the other peoples of the world in order to promote a world brotherhood.

W. Irvine, M.P., also spoke on the future of Canada. He illustrated the importance of right methods in education. At the federal convention the following were elected officers: President, Henry Young, Millet; first vice president, Robert Haskins, Clive. The directors for the coming year are: Mack Latham, Brampton, for Leduc; R. L. Cook, Conjuring Creek, for Leduc; Alex. Cummings, Wetaskiwin, for Wetaskiwin; Mrs. Howard Russell, Ponoka, for Ponoka; and J. L. Spow, Bentley, for Lacombe.

At the evening session Messrs. Alfred Speakman of Red Deer and W. Irvine of Bentley, members of the federal house were the chief speakers. Each dealt with certain phases of the last session at Ottawa. Mr. Speakman emphasized two points, first, that the private member had a greater influence than formerly. Both in the amended Grain act and in the Election act the views of the private member had been recognized. He also showed how the influence of the farmer group in parliament was now stronger because of the organization behind it. All parties were now considering the problems of agriculture because the farmers vote was of greater value through the solidarity of the farmer group. Once farmers got nothing, now their needs receive more consideration.

Mr. Irvine in a forceful speech took up certain enactments and policies of the last parliament. He discussed the budget although the Liberal party is not in favor of a high tariff $180,000,000 was collected in taxes. For every dollar so collected three dollars goes into the pockets of the manufacturer. Immigration is now carried on in a wasteful way. His party is opposed to assisted immigration. It is privileged, it works against the farmer, it is not in accord with supply and demand. While Canada has signed the Paris pact, $800,000 more is spent in national defence than in 1914.

Successful opposition to certain bills had resulted in their defeat. Other speakers were Mr. McDonald of the Livestock Pool association, who showed how through real co-operation in Denmark, the producer received 60 per cent of the value of his goods, but in Canada the farmer got only 30 per cent.

Mr. Christie of the Northern Alberta Dairy Pool association told of the success of his department. There are creameries in Alx Calgary and Edmonton to which members can send their cream.

The following resolutions were passed: From the Westling local a request to the Alberta government to widen the scope of the traveling bureau. His party is opposed to an annual free medical examination of every child attending public schools. The Hillsdale local was responsible for many resolutions but only the following were approved: First, that the provincial government be asked to provide for assistance to livestock producers to secure the use of purebred sires and assistance be given to breeders to import new blood from desirable herds outside the province; second, the Hon. P. H. Baker's new Rural School act was endorsed and the government requested to put it in force as soon as practicable. It was decided to amend the rule about delegates to conventions reducing the number from 20 to 10. It was decided to put aside money for the promotion of junior work. Belief in public ownership and control of electrical resources was declared and the government urged to act in this matter. Friday afternoon the delegates visited the experimental station.

DRIVERS WARNED OF DANGERS DUE TO HITCH HIKERS

All over the country, war is being declared on "hitch hikers" or "ride beggars." The feeling among motor clubs is that this is something that must be stamped out and the sooner the better.

The season is now about to open for these "thumb tourists" so motorists are urged to be on their guard, no matter how sympathetic they may feel to the roadside applicant. It is from all standpoints a pernicious practice, fraught with grave dangers to the car owner who has nothing as to the identity of the stranger.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association have on numerous occasions sounded a warning as to this "picking up" practice, which, no doubt, is just as common in this province as in other parts of the country. Too often, owners of cars have found themselves looking as calmly as possible into the barrel of a revolver, or finding it necessary to lose no time in turning the car over to the mercies of the stranger.

Genuine cases, in which lifts would no doubt be justified, doubtless are discovered from time to time. But the fact that grave dangers are risked in a large number of cases makes it imperative that car owners be urged to utilize the space in their machines for themselves, their families or their friends.

CALGARY POWER CO. WILL MAKE OFFER FOR WATER SYSTEM

Representatives from the Calgary Power Company were in the city during the past week, looking over the water and light situation. A special meeting of the City Council was held on Friday evening, at which the representatives were present, when the whole matter was fully discussed. We understand the Calgary Power Company will make a formal offer in a few days to take over the water system of Wetaskiwin, as well as the electric light department.

SHOWER GIVEN FOR BRIDE

A most enjoyable afternoon was spent on Wednesday at Ed. Larson's, the occasion being a shower given in honor of Miss Hjordis Westvold, of Edmonton, whose marriage to Hjalmer Anderson took place recently.

The house was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers, kelpie ribbons and June roses. A mock wedding was held, the bride's part being taken by Miss Norma Swanson dressed in a wedding gown and veil of a quarter century ago, while Miss La Verne Larson acted as groom. The humorous ceremony was performed by Mrs. Emil Anderson, and Mrs. H. Pearson played the Wedding March. After a guessing contest was played, the presents were wheeled in to the bride-elect in a doll carriage by little Joy Pearson. Useful advice on how to handle a husband was read by Miss Fern Larson, after which a very dainty buffet lunch was served by the joint hostesses, Miss Florence Pearson and Miss Fern Larson.

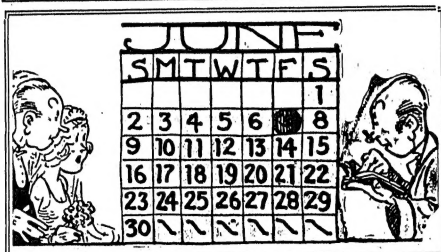

W.M.S. VISIT HOBBEWA

On Wednesday of last week the ladies of the W.M.S. of the United Church journeyed to Hobbema to hold their June meeting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Cantelon, missionaries to the Indians.

A number of ladies from Hobbema and district were present. After the usual business, an hour was spent in an interesting study of mission work at home and in Africa. At the close, refreshments were served, and a pleasant social hour spent.

Curt Smith of the Dried hotel, made a business trip to Kamloops, B.C., the fore part of the week.

WHY NOT PLAY FAIR WITH OTHER DRIVERS?

A correspondent from Royal Park writes the Observer as follows:

Did you ever stop to think what the dimmers were put on your car for? If so, why don't you use them? About 75 per cent of the car drivers in Vegreville and the neighboring towns and districts will pass other cars at night with glaring lights at a speed of 30 miles per hour. It takes only a touch of the finger or foot (depending on the car one is driving) to tilt the lights and one has exactly as good a light, bright or dim, only tilted so that it does not affect the other driver's eyes. No more current is consumed in changing lights from bright to dim.

Yet most drivers sit behind the every clip, I did not pause an hour for rest, but kept on smiling, thigh and hip. The flies in windows lay around, while yet I made the swatter hum; if they were worth five cents a pound I might have banked a goodly sum. I swat them from the time I rise until I go to bed again; and yet there are as many flies as when I started my campaign. The chemists have invented sprays which spill for flies a certain doom; and every atom slays whatever flies are in the room. I close the windows and doors, and squirt the stuff along the walls, and say, "I'll kill these buzzing botes or tear my Sunday overalls. When science lends a helping hand, I feel the battle will be won; the age-old pest will soon be canned, and one great trouble will be done." A million flies lie in the drape, when I have sprayed, with hopeful grin; but when again the doors I open, five million more come buzzing in. A fly is tickling my fat neck, another fly is on my nose; I breathe the sacred name of Heck, and swat those most persistent foes. But other flies are promptly there to take the place of buzzers slain; and so I sometimes read my hair and feel my labors are in vain.

MA'S TOOLS

At home it seemed to be the rule, Pa never has the proper tool Or knack to fix things, but the stunt that stumps Ma, though, you have to hunt.

The caster in the table leg Fell out; Pa said a wooden peg Would fix it up, but Ma kept mum And fixed it with a wad of gum.

We could scarce open our front door It stuck so tight, and Pa he swore He'd buy a plane, as big as life, Ma fixed it with the carving knife.

The bureau drawer got stuck one day, And, push or pull, 'twas there to stay; Said Pa, "Some day 'twill shrink, I hope," Ma fixed it with a piece of soap.

The window shade got out of whack, Would not pull down, nor yet roll back; Pa said, "No one can fix that thing," Ma fixed it with a piece of string.

The bathtub drain got all clogged up, Pa baled the tub out with a cup; He had a dreadful helpless look, Ma cleared it with a crochet hook.

I broke the stove hinge one fine day, 'Twas cracked before, though, any way.

Pa said we'd put a new door in; Ma grabbed her hair and got a pin.

So when my things get out of fix, Do I ask Pa to mend them? "Nix," Ma just grabs what's near at hand, And tugs things up to beat the band.

Canada's Future Fruit Champion

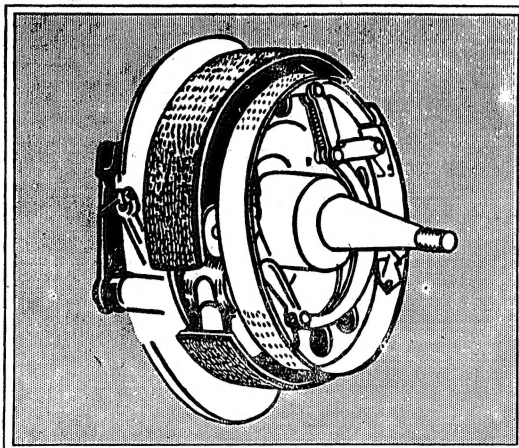

Believed to be the tallest man in Scotland, Andrew Kelligan, of Lesmahagow, height 6 feet 10 1/2 inches, decided he'd become a champion fruit picker, and that Canada was the place for his triumph. Accordingly he joined the first party to train in farming at Carstairs, Scotland, under the Scottish Ministry of Labor's scheme to equip future Canadians. He arrived this summer along with hundreds of other Scottish immigrants who crossed aboard the big Scottish ocean liner Letitia, from Glasgow. His pal is a midjet by comparison.

PA'S SON-IN-LAW

THE FORD CAR SIX-BRAKE SYSTEM

Grips with Silent Power

THE greatest safety feature on any automobile—the braking system—has been developed on the Ford car to a degree that insures absolute driving confidence. Being fully enclosed, the internal expanding brakes on all four wheels are free from any danger of impaired performance from mud, sand, road dirt, grease or other foreign matter entering the mechanism or between the bands and drum.

The four wheel system is operated by a foot pedal, while the emergency or parking system of two brakes, one on each rear wheel, is distinct and separate, operated by a hand lever. This added security is made possible through the unique design of the Ford steel spoke wheels to which drums are fitted to accommodate two sets of internal brakes on the rear wheels.

The smooth, even braking of the Ford car yields more advantages than maximum safety at all times, since it makes tires last longer and adds immeasurably to riding ease and driving comfort.

DANGER SIGNALS

We have, from time to time, drawn the attention of our readers to danger signals. There are certain conditions which, when they occur, should be taken as definite warnings and should send the person concerned to his doctor without delay. There is a very definite limit to the extent we may go in pointing out such danger signals, because there is a limit to what the lay person is able to see.

The trained engineer can learn from the action and the sound of his machinery whether or not it is running as it should. He will detect the slight changes which are the beginning of trouble and which the untrained person would neither see nor hear.

The sailor foretells the weather, not by guess-work but by means of the knowledge acquired during years of observation. The physician prepares himself by a lengthy period of training in order that he may, first of all, acquire knowledge and secondly, the skill to put this knowledge into practice.

Most of the diseases from which mankind suffers are not of the sudden, acute type; the majority of them are gradually developed over a considerable period of time. In most cases, their presence is not suspected until there is some symptom which sends the sufferer to his doctor for examination. That symptom was a danger signal which the patient recognized. There were, however, before that, danger signals which the physician, had he been given the opportunity of examining the patient, would have recognized by reason of his special training and skill.

The periodic health examination, which means that regularly, once a year, the individual goes to his doctor for a complete examination, provides the most practical means of which we know to detect these early danger signals. Periodic health examination brings medical skill to act when it has the most to offer. Early treatment is the greatest advantage that curative medicine has to offer, because early treatment will mean, in most cases, cure, or at least no further damage. If one relies on his own skill to decide as to the need for medical care, this may mean, in many cases, advanced disease with practically no hope of cure, and a life-long disability.

The periodic health examination should be made by the family physician.

Questions, concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 134 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by correspondence.

We believe most people, as soon as they can spare the money will be glad to pay this small item. THE TIGER TRAIL

Edison Marshall Illustrations by R. J. Brown

WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE

Dr. Long is visiting Southley Downs to which he is conducted by Ahmad Das, an Oriental. There he meets Mr. Southley, whom a detective friend, Alexander Ploree, had told him to watch, and his son Ernest Southley, Mr. Hayward and his son Vilas, and then Josephine Southley, whom he had seen faint on the train. Josephine tells him the story of Southley Downs and its ghost, which is not the ghost of a human being but of a tiger.

Dr. Long has a quarrel with Vilas Hayward over Josephine, and finds that the Haywards have a strange authority over the Southleys. He is ordered to leave Southley Downs. The rain prevents him leaving at once. Dr. Long and Ernest go out on the road in the rain looking for the tracks of a tiger that Ernest says are there.

They find the tracks. Later Ernest and Dr. Long see a prowling creature in the hall of Southley Downs. This frightens the elder Hayward, who also sees it. Ernest begins to feel that Ahmad Das is perpetrating some devilry. Now read on—

The old man sat down in a cushioned chair. He gave no heed to the water pouring from his clothes. He looked tired and listless.

"The levee is breaking," he answered simply.

Only his son seemed to understand. I looked up from the work of tying my shoes, propped in my room on the way to the library. We made a silent circle in the dim light.

"What does it mean?" Hayward cried. "Does it mean we'll be drowned?"

He spoke hoarsely; but the announcement steadied me. Floods were material, and could be faced. They couldn't run and hide behind the curtains.

"Nothing as bad as that," Southley answered. "Of course it means a flood, but by no conceivable circumstances can the waters reach the top of the hill where this house stands. But we'll be cut off from civilization—for days. The water will sweep all around the hill, flood the railroad bed, and fill all the low places—eight feet deep. We won't be able to reach the heights across the valley."

Hayward seemed to leap toward him. He simply appeared to break before our eyes. His voice rose shrilly, and he shook his arm in Southley's face.

"Then get me out tonight!" he screamed. "Get me away from this house while there's yet time."

"I'm afraid it is too late now," Southley answered.

His neck was broken, as if by a giant's blow.

"Call a car for me at once—here me! There's still time to make the road. I won't stay here another hour. Get on your feet, you fool—and call a car for me. You'll regret it if you don't."

"There's no one to drive—but Ahmad," Southley answered wearily. "And what about your son?"

"Damn my son! Damn this wicked house! Did you say Ahmad?" For an instant we saw the battle of two fears in his great face. "Get Ahmad; then, I'll be ready as soon as I find a car. Vilas can tend to our business, and he'll communicate with me."

Southley sighed; then got to his feet. He touched a bell on the table. Only a moment we waited. Then through the door came Ahmad Das—calm, imperturbable, his Oriental face quiet as a sea. Never was there such a depth of shadow as we saw in his eyes.

"He came swiftly across the floor with that marvelous, feline grace."

"Yes, sahib."

"Get the touring car out at once," Southley ordered. "You'll have to take Sahib Hayward to the station. Don't lose an instant. The levee is breaking. It will be broken before you return, so you'll have to leave the car. Arrange for supplies while you're in the station and come in a boat, there—we may be cut off for weeks."

"I'll cut down the walk to the base of the hill," Hayward instructed. "Pick me up there, and we'll have at least a minute."

The Oriental bowed, then slipped away. He went just like a shadow. He found a raincoat in the hall, and in an instant he was out in the flood of rain.

Hayward put on his own overcoat and started out after him. The rain and the darkness swallowed them both.

A window has been left just beside the fireplace, and through it we could ordinarily see the garage. Ernest and I gazed through that window. Ahmad was evidently having difficulty in beating his way through the storm. It was a long time before we saw an indication that he had reached the garage. Then we saw his auto lights flash on.

We were barely able to make them out, although it was plain that the garage door was open and they were shining directly toward us. Of course the distance was far; and the piercing rays could hardly penetrate the wall of rain. The lightning had entirely ceased. We couldn't hear the roar of the engine at all. Then we saw, quite plainly, the track of the lights as the car sped about the shoulder of the hill.

Perhaps, in all, the walk to the garage and the starting of the car had taken four minutes. The walk to the base of the hill, where the postern path met the driveway, took two minutes. It was straight downhill, and if Hayward had walked swiftly at all, he would certainly have two minutes to wait. The car came slowly, and still we could see the faint luster in the rain that was its light.

They curved on to the base of the hill. Then Ernest uttered a syllable of exclamation. "He's driven past the point," he said.

"Possibly Hayward has walked on a few feet," I suggested.

The car slowed up and stopped for a single instant, then started slowly on. It was hard to believe that it halted long enough to permit the party form of Hayward to enter. It looked to us as if Ahmad were trying to throw the lights onto the side of the road. Then, to our vast amazement, we saw him turn around.

The car headed back, just as slowly, and circled about to the garage. The servant stopped the car in the rain; and we waited a long three minutes for him to drive on again. We only knew he was standing still from the faint blur of the lights in the downpour. I don't remember that we three men talked at all. Possibly there were one or two wondering remarks—as to what was the cause of their delay.

And just then the dark form of the Hindu came into the hall. The look of question on his face seemed very real indeed. I remembered it afterward, as did all the rest of us.

"Where," he asked, "is Hayward Sahib?"

"You mean Vilas?" Southley asked. "The elder Hayward, whom I was to drive to the station?"

"For God's sake, Ahmad! Did you miss him? He started out in the rain, and was going to meet you at the foot of the path. Didn't you understand?"

"I looked—but he wasn't there. Then I thought I had misunderstood, and drove back to the garage."

"Good Lord, he'll be drenched. Go down the path and find him."

"Yes, sahib—"

My eyes were upon Ernest's face, and suddenly his gaze met mine. I think that we had the same thought. "Wait a minute, Ahmad," he said quietly. "Keep the door shut." Then he turned to his father; and stood for a long instant as if in thought. "Father, I think that we'd all better go and look for Hayward."

We saw no sign of Hayward at first. We got down to the driveway, and nudged our lanterns all along it. We looked up and down the path. We tried to call in the best of the rain. "Good Lord!" Southley cried. "He couldn't have got down into the river and drowned!"

We scattered about, and began to climb over the hillside. The rain, the bobbing lanterns, the echo of the catastrophe, the dark house behind us, and the gathering lakes in front, gave the scene a singular dream-like quality. Then Ahmad, who walked close beside me, tripped and fell over something on the ground.

He muttered an oath in his own tongue; then whirled to look. He bent and felt about with his hand. The place he stood was a little neck of land that dipped down into the floodwaters, an isthmus that separated the height on which the house stood from the plateau opposite.

"Bring the lantern," the Hindu called. "I have found Sahib Hayward."

The lantern showed everything very plainly. We understood why Hayward had not met the servant at the house. His neck was broken, as if by a giant's blow.

We didn't stop to examine the body on that rain-swept hillside. I had known the neck was broken simply by the way the great head dropped back when we lifted the shoulders from the ground. The four of us carried him into the house, not an easy load at all. Vilas Hayward met us at the door.

The effect on the younger Hayward was hardly what I expected. It was true that I didn't look for prostration. He was the kind of man that grows away from his parents in late boyhood.

"My father?" he shrieked. The sound went high and wild in the storm. "Don't dare to tell me he's dead."

"We don't dare to tell you anything else, because he is," Ernest answered. Vilas leaped toward Southley, and for an instant I thought he would attack him. His face was drawn hideously in the half-light. He had evidently left his bed only when the levee gave way; he was only partly dressed.

"Then you're the devil that killed him! You, I say, Southley! You killed him to get rid of him, and you'll be trying to kill me next!" "Don't be silly," I cautioned swiftly. "I was with Mr. Southley up to the moment that we found him!"

"Then it was you, Lon, in Southley's pay. I won't believe anything else."

Ernest had tried to quiet him, and after he had got him away, I took the covering from the dead man's face. I was amazed at the calmness of the body. My aged host knelt beside me. Nothing but a super-human blow could have broken the neck. It could not have been from a fall; because only a severe fall could have done it, and out on the isthmus where we had found the corpse there were no heights to fall from. Besides, there was plenty of other evidence that some sort of a blow had killed him. The worst of them all were two, deep parallel grooves on his face, from which the flesh had been simply raked. The flesh was discolored, too. "It's plain as the nose on your face that the man was murdered," Southley said. "Any coroner's jury in Florida would say so. And the sooner we get word into town the better."

"At least," I answered, "the murderer can't get away. Unless he's got out before the levee broke, he's on the island with us."

"And it doesn't seem likely that he could get out without superhuman strength and agility. Of course it might have been possible for a speedy runner to reach the highlands across the valley before the flood waters swept over the isthmus, but it's certain he couldn't get back to civilization. The first thing to do is to post guards to watch over the lowlands, and see that he doesn't get out."

Southley's eyes met mine. I had never seen better self-control.

"The first thing to do is to quiet the negroes," I told him. "They are terrorized. The next is to send for aid."

The old man turned quickly. "Do you mean the coroner?"

"Yes. The state will send detectives. I will be glad. It is certain that one of us three will have to face a murder charge, and the sooner it is cleared up the better."

"But we three were together—"

"That won't matter. They will say we hired one of the negroes to commit the crime. We can improvise a raft, and send a man out tomorrow to bring the coroner."

"We can do better than that. I've got a little sneakboat—just a canoe—that I use for ducks. We'll have to have a bigger one to bring supplies; but it will carry a message to the mainland."

There was little else to do in the rain. We went into the den, and just as morning broke we told Ernest and Vilas our plans. The rain was less violent now. The storm was at the ebb.

"I'm sorry I said what I did," Vilas apologized. "It was the excitement of the moment. But I would like to know what you think, Southley. What killed my father—accident or murder, or what?"

The eyes of the two men met.

"Your father was struck down—there is no question about it," Southley replied. "He was killed by a blow from some unknown source. There is every reason to think that his slayer is still about this house and plantation, and every possible effort will be made to chase him down. No one will be able to leave—first, because of only chance."

With this, our little group broke up. Ernest tried to snatch a few hours of sleep on the sofa. I had plans of my own that necessitated a consultation with the negro that was to carry word to the coroner when the sun rose. And just as I came back from my talk with him I met Josephine on the stairs.

"Where are you going?" I demanded.

"And what right have you to ask?" she answered me.

She might have been the spirit of the dawn itself in her soft gray drapery, and the light of stars in her eyes. I knew from her look that she had heard of the tragedy.

"It is just that I'm afraid for you," I told her humbly. "No one knows what might not happen in this house."

"And you are still watchful for me—even since last night?"

Of course she referred to the scene in the den. No words can tell how appealing, from the shadows of the stairway, was her voice.

An Explanation of the New Grain Act

(By M. Luchkovich, M.P.)

Readers will no doubt be interested of the land is the signature attached in the amendments to the Grain Act this year. The bill which was introduced by Mr. Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce, on June 7, 1929, is based on a unanimous report presented by the Agricultural Committee and formulated no doubt in direct response to frequent expressions of the farmers' dissatisfaction at the various farmers' conventions in the West. Allow me to submit a brief summary of the different recommendations as incorporated in the bill. Incidentally I might point out here that the bill passed all three readings in the House of Commons after only four hours of debate; and in the Senate without any amendments in the extraordinary short time of fifteen minutes. All this bill needs now to make it the law

(10) This has to do with the report of a special committee which visited Europe in connection with barley grades.

(11) This gives to the Board of Grain Commissioners power to print the various grain tickets used as between the producer and elevator company.

Above are the recommendations in brief that have been incorporated into the bill. In the remaining part of my letter I intend to deal concisely with the high spots of the legislation thereto.

Agriculture is the basic industry of Canada and wheat constitutes her greatest export; indeed it is the best quality of any wheat in the world and that is why it finds a ready sale on the markets of the world. Having this fact in view it is therefore very important to have the Grain Act (which controls the grading and shipment of grain) so administered as to give satisfaction to both sellers here and buyers abroad. In order to do this our standards must be kept up to our previous reputation thereto. If there are any complaints against our grain in the markets of Europe, the trouble is not in the intrinsic value of our wheat but in what was done to it after it left the producer. This brings up the question of mixing of grades. It has been claimed that the private terminals have been "skinning" the grades, mixing a small percentage of good wheat with wheat of lower quality and thus raising the whole batch to just within the minimum of the higher standard with the result that the buyer in Europe has been getting the very minimum in the grades he buys, and that it is the mixing, not the wheat as originally graded, which is at fault.

Evidence was submitted in the Agricultural Committee that mixing could not be wholly prohibited by statute and that the mixing of one grade of grain with another is the most logical method of disposing of our crop. As against this view was submitted the above overwhelming evidence that in the mixing of grain, our grades are deteriorated by putting therein lower grades which rather lower their milling value and reputation on the markets of the world. It was felt, however, that the introduction of legislation which would have to take effect within the next two or three months, and which would disturb the handling methods now practiced, would be rather a drastic measure. Therefore the committee recommended that the prohibition of mixing in the statutory grades do not come into force until August 1, 1930.

It was thought that as regards the lower or so-called commercial grades of grain no damage or ill effects could result from the mixing of those grades; but as regards the statutory grades of grain, Nos. 2 and 3 red spring wheat (our guiding grades) no good could be done to them by mixing any other type or grade of grain with them. With respect to this question the committee brought down a recommendation that the 75 per cent-25 per cent outturn standard (see Recommendation 2 above) should come into effect at once, with a regard to all grades of grain; that with regard to the commercial grades the general practice of mixing which has been heretofore in use, be continued, but that as regards the statutory grades, the three commercial grades, the committee advised the prohibition of mixing.

Only one change was made by the House to the bill. Under the present Grain Act the cities of Moose Jaw and Saskatoon are voluntary inspection points. In the bill before the House on June 7th, section 13 proposed to make these cities compulsory inspection points. When the legislation was finally passed this section had been eliminated so the situation with respect to these cities will remain unchanged.

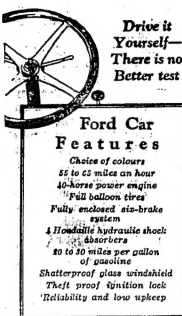

The 75 per cent of the average and 25 per cent of the minimum of a grade passing Winnipeg standard of our grain going to Europe, will give a uniformity of standard in the flow of our grain and is most desirable at the beginning of the season when the price is set. As Mr. Malcolm puts it: "The prices set on Canada's grain are largely set on the samples which are submitted at the beginning of the crop season. Prices may fluctuate if the standard of the cargoes improves, but by this method it is felt that the Liverpool corn exchange and the other corn exchanges of Europe will know more

Drive It Yourself—There is no Better test

The TUDOR SEDAN

The Tudor is a most popular model, a car of general utility with ample leg room seating five people. With wide doors, deep cushions and full vision, this is a car in which every member of the family may take personal pride and pleasure.

Simple and Economical

THE Ford Car has proved the case for the light car as a long distance traveller. It has demonstrated its ability to carry you across a continent without fuss or fatigue. Never failing mechanical performance gives mental comfort with the assurance that you will arrive fresh and relaxed at the journey's end.

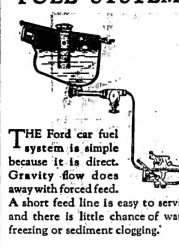

Simplicity of design in every mechanical part means less wear and friction and long life without repair or adjustment. Speed and acceleration are there in full measure. And the beauty of Ford performance is enhanced by the knowledge that every mile is covered at great saving in gas and oil, and, even at high speeds, with an engine that is conserving rather than exhausting its power and endurance.

COMFORT—Deeply upholstered seat cushions, set at a restful angle, match in comfort your easy chair. Large windows on the closed models allow unobstructed vision and open wide the easy getaway. Four Handicraft hydraulic shock absorbers, and the unique Ford feature of transverse semi-elliptic springs give the effect of riding on air.

DEMONSTRATION—Ask your Ford dealer to let you drive a Ford car. He will be glad to take you out. See the steepest hills, the heaviest going—you will be amazed at the power at your command. Make for the thickest traffic. Drive alongside other cars. Try the quick getaway, the swift pickup in second, the easy getaway. Feel the smooth sure action of the six-brake system. A demonstration will convince you of the outstanding merit of the Ford car.

THE FORD CAR FUEL SYSTEM

THE Ford car fuel system is simple because it is direct. Gravity flow does away with forced feed. A short feed line is easy to service and there is little chance of water freezing or sediment clogging.

definitely what they may expect to get throughout the crop year. They will know that the standard they are going to get is above the minimum standard on which the grain was bought, and it is felt that confidence will be established in the European buyer by providing that the outturn standard shall be almost the average of the grade."

There has been much talk of the "hybrid" ticket and its detrimental effect to the producer. What was known as the Campbell Act (Section 150), passed two years ago, gave any producer of grain the right to take his shipment to any country elevator, to put it into storage and, when he had paid his storage charges thereon, to direct that it be transferred to any terminal elevator of his selection. My readers are already acquainted with the confusion that resulted when the producer delivered his wheat to the Wheat Pool. The private elevators said that by doing so the producer has assigned the rights to his grain. (It must be noted right here that the elevators had a contract with the Pool, and because of this contract the private elevators claimed they had a right to authorize where the grain was to be shipped irrespective of where the farmer wished to have it shipped). In other words the grain companies handling grain contended that they had the right to handle grain for those who had a contract to handle the grain for producers and by the use of this ticket they deprived the producer of the right of determining the destination of his grain, claiming the right that they had under a certain contract. It is now generally conceded that section 150 had been violated by the insertion of certain words on the ticket which were not prescribed in the Act. This question has now been definitely settled by defining the rights of the producers under section 150 and a provision, by having the tickets supplied by the board, that no tampering can take place with tickets in the future. A grain ticket will be provided that will be uniform in appearance and of standard size. The Board of Grain Commissioners shall supervise printing of the tickets and supply them to the elevators. No ticket shall be allowed to be used unless it has been supplied by the Board; the use of any other ticket than the ticket supplied by the Board shall be deemed illegal. — Vegreville Observer.

RESERVATION OF MINES AND MINERALS IN TAX SALE TITLES

(By T. M. Wears, Town Solicitor, Strathmore)
(Research Bulletin)

In the year 1917 a case—Town of Coleman vs. Head Syndicate—was decided in the Supreme Court of Alberta and is reported in "Alberta Law Reports" Vol. 11, Page 314. Amongst other things the report says that minerals are not "land" within the meaning of The Town Act. Less than a quarter of a century ago in this jurisdiction in certificates of title given a purchaser of land his rights thereunder might be expressed in a well-known Latin maxim, a translation of which is "Whose is the soil, his it is even to heaven and to the middle of the earth."

Later on in Alberta, with possibilities of minerals, the Dominion Government, the C.P.R. and Hudson Bay, in transferring lands reserved the right to minerals, so that although a purchaser is monarch of all he surveyed heavenwards, he is not so "ad infernos."

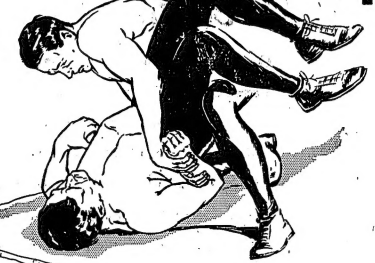

In titles issued prior to the decision above referred to following tax foreclosure proceedings a municipality was given (where it could be given) full rights in the land, but since then in such cases mines and minerals are reserved in titles taken by a town or given direct to a tax-sale purchaser, the mines and minerals being reserved to a defaulting taxpayer! In my opinion this state of the law should be altered and a full and complete title given as formerly, because why should a who bought some land twenty years ago be registered as the owner of mines and minerals for all time? He has defaulted in payment of taxes and no estate or interest whatever should be registered in his name, but should rest in name of the Town to which he defaulted, so that a full and complete title could be passed on to a party acquiring from a town. I think that this matter might be discussed at our next Convention.

The satisfaction of owners is proof of its reliability

THROUGH the fine things said about it by its owners . . . through their complete satisfaction . . . their enthusiastic recommendation to their friends. In this way the world is coming to know the Oakland Olympic Series as a remarkably good and reliable automobile.

It's no accident . . . this dependability which is winning so many friends for Oakland. Rather it is the result of Oakland design and construction . . . as exemplified by numerous features new to the moderate-priced motor car field.

Reliability itself cannot be demonstrated. But the reasons for it are shown in a special demonstration which we have arranged.

Ask any Oakland owner about its reliability. Then come in . . . and we will show you why this car is so dependable.

THE LUCK OF THE IRISH

An Irish fireman, rescuing a woman at a blaze, lost his hold near the bottom of the ladder and landed heavily with the woman on top of him. A doctor hastily summoned pronounced Pat sound, though badly bruised.

"You are a brave gentleman," said the doctor.

"Brave, maybe, but no gentleman," replied Pat, rubbing his injuries, "or I'd a-set the lady go first."

"I cannot understand," said the Vicar, "why so many of our congregation go straight from church to the public-house."

"Oh," said his lively curate, "that's what is known as 'the thirst after righteousness'."

The Duke of Atholl told this story from the Highlands the other day.

"An aristocratic old lady in the Highlands," said the Duke, "hired a crofter's boy as page, and bought him a livery to be worn only on very special occasions."

"One day she gave a dinner party. As she entertained the guests in the difficult ten minutes before the meal was served, a tumbled read was stuck into the dining-room and the voice of the new page asked:

"Please, ma'am, am I to wear the ain breeks or yours?"

Big Convention Program for U.A.M.

(Research Bulletin)

The program for the annual convention of the Union of Alberta Municipalities to be held in The Palliser Hotel, Calgary, on Wednesday and Thursday, June 26th and 27th, will provide for a range of subjects for consideration which will be full of interest for those interested in urban municipal matters.

It has been thought best to provide a two day convention instead of for three days. By spreading out the discussions and concentrating on the business of the sessions it should be possible to deal with a large amount of vital matter and still permit of a free exchange of ideas among the delegates as to matters of policy and local methods of government.

It will be a source of pleasure to the prospective delegates to learn that His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Dr. Egbert will be present to officially open the convention. Mayor F. E. Osborne, of Calgary, will extend a welcome to the municipal representatives assembled.

Then there will be addresses given regarding the importance and necessity of planning for the future development of our highways, the economic necessity for the conservation of gas now being wasted in our gas fields, the necessity for provision for landing fields for airplanes in each urban centre and other problems dealing with a policy of preparedness for the future expansion of our great province.

The program will also provide for the discussion of matters resulting from recent provincial legislation, including a review of The Old Age Pensions Act, The Tax Recovery Act, and deferred proposal to impose the Supplementary Revenue Tax on improvements as well as on land assessments, and other related questions.

CABINET DECIDES HON. C. STEWART CAN NOT RESIGN

Ottawa, June 22.—The cabinet has definitely decided that Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, cannot resign to become chief of the board of the new board of grain commissioners. Mr. Stewart has been mentioned as the new grain chief and recommendations from the west have been received by the government.

The minister is understood to have held an open mind on the subject, but it is now understood that the prime minister has vetoed the proposition and the cabinet generally is opposed to Mr. Stewart's resignation.

BABY CHICKS ARE SENT TO NORTH VIA AIR MAIL

Manager Johnson, of the Edmonton branch of the Bolivar Hatcheries, Calgary, sent off a shipment of baby chicks by air mail for the north on Tuesday morning, filling an order for 100 Leghorn chicks sent in by Mrs. T. Woodman at Fort Chipewyan. This is probably the first time the air mail service has been taken advantage of in this industry in the province.

PONOKA SCHOOL BOARD WINS APPEAL

This case was an action for damages instituted by W. C. Murray against the Ponoka School District for breach of his contract as school principal. The action was tried at Wetaskiwin on the 26th of March, 1928, when the plaintiff was awarded $100 damages and costs. The plaintiff claimed that he was entitled to be summoned to a meeting of the School Board to hear his reasons for terminating the contract, and that he was then entitled to 30 days' notice terminating his contract. As soon as the plaintiff received the 10 days' notice terminating the contract which he received from the School Board on June 15, 1928, he wrote to the School Board accepting the dismissal. The School Board later summoned the plaintiff to a meeting and thereafter gave him 30 days' notice terminating the contract. The plaintiff then sued the School Board for damages for breach of contract.

From the decision of the trial judge an appeal was taken by the School Board, and the judgment of the Court of Appeal held that it was optional for the plaintiff, upon receiving the said notice to treat it as a termination of the hiring by dismissal or to treat the contract as being still in effect until terminated in the manner provided in the employment agreement. The plaintiff elected to treat it as a dismissal but did not appeal to the Minister of Education as provided by Section 196 of the School Act, R.S.A., Ch. 51, and amendments, and further goes on to say that:

"There seems to be no escape from the conclusion that the plaintiff not having appealed before he was dismissed to salary from and after the date of dismissal."

The judgment further goes on to state that it is unnecessary to consider the effect of the proceedings taken by the School Board after serving the first notice of termination of the agreement. The appeal was allowed with costs and the action was dismissed with costs.

J. R. McClure, Esq., was counsel for the (Defendants) Appellants, and A. Beaumont was counsel for the (Plaintiff) Respondent.—Ponoka Herald.

WAS A FUNDAMENTALIST

An old preacher once told some boys the Bible lesson he was going to read the following morning. The boys, finding the place, joined together the connecting pages.

The next morning the preacher read on the bottom of the page: "When Noah was 120 years old he took unto himself a wife whose name was—then turning the page—"140 cubits long, 40 cubits wide, built of gopher wood, and covered with pitch inside and out."

He was puzzled. He read it again, and then said: "My friends, this is the first time I ever met this in the Bible, but I accept it as evidence of the assertion that we are fearfully and wonderfully made."

DEL GOUCHEE, WELL KNOWN OLDTIMER DIED SUDDENLY

At the comparatively early age of 54, one of the districts earliest residents in the person of Delvick Wilfred Gouchee, familiarly known as "Del" passed away at his home eight miles west of Camrose, in the Bittern Lake district, on Saturday evening. Heart failure was given as the cause of his sudden demise. The late Mr. Gouchee had suffered from a form of rheumatism since February last and was unable to take part in putting the farm under crop. It was his first illness and was not regarded as particularly serious.

Deceased was born at Milton, Ont., on August 25, 1875. He went with his parents at an early age to Massachusetts and from there at the age of fifteen to Wisconsin. He was married there in 1892 to Miss Matilda Sharkey. Nine years later in the autumn of 1900 he joined the army of land-seekers that poured into Western Canada when homestead lands were made available.

The late Mr. Gouchee had not long been a resident of the then thinly populated territory lying east of Wetaskiwin when he found time to indulge in a sport that early established itself as a favorite pastime in Western Canada, namely, baseball. He played first at Wetaskiwin and was soon recognized as occupying a class much above that of the average player, his stellar role being that of catcher. As a professional he was a member of the league that included Winnipeg, Brandon, Medicine Hat, Calgary and Edmonton. He had an offer to go to Washington for a season but decided he would be too far away from home.

In 1916 deceased enlisted at the age of forty-one with the 191st battalion, later going to the 21st.

the time the armistice was signed, he was a member of a baseball team organized on French soil by Deacon White, a well-known Edmonton sports manager, who had often seen Mr. Gouchee play ball at home. He returned to his farm in 1919 after having gone with the troops of occupation to Germany with headquarters at Bonn. While in France he met two of his sons, Harris and Ernest, who had enlisted at Camrose with the 151st battalion.

More Boys Planning to Make Buchanan's Alaska Tour

George E. Buchanan, sponsor and backer of and rooter for the movement of boys to Alaska, is planning to take 50 or more to the far north the coming summer. Buchanan, who is president of the Detroit Coal Exchange and five coal companies and a bachelor, believes that a trip to Alaska, and this is his seventh annual personally conducted tour. The boys, ages 9 to 17, must earn one-third of the cost of the trip ($125.00); the parents advance a third and Buchanan loans the boy one third, which is to be repaid later at the boy's leisure.

Buchanan, who gets letters from all over the United States and Canada addressed "Alaska, Buchanan, Detroit," tells the boy who writes to him direct from anywhere how he can earn his third by selling pencils, kitchen tongs, coal, steel ash baskets, etc. Boys who qualify go westward through Canadian Rockies, seeing Banff and Lake Louise, then north to Alaska on the "Princess Louise." They see the wonders of Alaska and return by the "Princess" to Vancouver and homeward through the United States, thus viewing the finest scenery in Canada, Alaska and the States. Buchanan goes with them on every trip and gives them his personal care.

When asked what he did if they got sick, he declared that they did not get sick, or if they had a bit of indigestion, the wonderful climate pepped them up and put them back on their feet immediately. "One boy gained 19 lbs. during the month's tour," said Buchanan, and every boy has gone home a better boy physically, mentally and as a young business man. He has seen Alaska's wonders and has earned part of the money to finance the trip, which covers about $2000 in Alaska and lasts a whole month. One of my youngest boys, who is 5 years old, has already earned about $80, and if he goes his third together on his own efforts, he will be in our party this summer, even if he is only six years old. Any boy, anywhere can go, provided he gets his parents' consent and earns his third."

BRIGHTVIEW

A serious accident occurred recently on the highway between Wetaskiwin and Edmonton. Four Brightview ladies, Mrs. W. Cadogan, Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Stark and Mrs. Bell, were on the way to Edmonton on a shopping trip, when their car overturned on a gravel bank, causing the battery to explode. Another car was passing, and the driver had the presence of mind to rip the hood, or chances are that they would have been badly burned. Three of the ladies were severely injured and had to get their wounds dressed in Edmonton. It is to be hoped there will be less accidents in future.

CROP MANAGEMENT FOR WEED CONTROL

(By G. E. DeLong, Lacombe Experimental Station.)

A thorough summerfallow will usually be the most effective method of bringing the most persistent growing perennial weeds under control. When it is necessary to resort to the summerfallow as a weed control measure, it is advisable to adopt some systematic rotation of crops, with regular seeding down to grass and legumes at short intervals.

Many farmers feel that they can ill afford to free their land of weeds by any method which will not give a crop of some kind. While the eradication of perennial weeds such as sow thistle, quack grass, etc., necessitates the use of the fallow, such treatment does not free the land from many annual weeds such as wild oats, mustard, or sink weed, hence it is necessary from an economic standpoint to adopt farming methods that control rather than eradicate such weeds.

Land that is badly polluted with perennial weeds will produce an excellent crop of winter wheat or rye. Both of these crops act as smother crops for all types of weeds if they get a good start in the fall and do not winter kill.

Barley and oat green feed if handled properly will effectively compete against most of our annual weeds and many perennials. Land to be used for these crops should be partially fallowed before seeding. It is usually wise to disc the stubble a week or so before ploughing and thus promote germination of weed seeds which matured with the preceding crop and fell on the ground. A succession of such crops and treatments tends to reduce the weed seed content of the soil.

Seeding down to grass and legumes and cutting the hay crop early will prevent most kinds of weeds from ripening, thus decreasing the number of vital weed seeds in the sub-surface soil from year to year. Alfalfa and sweet clover are the best crops to use for this purpose.

Live stock and particularly sheep are valuable aids in weed control. Live stock are most essential to profitable agriculture on a weedy farm as many of the crops which control weeds are not cash crops and can be marketed to best advantage by the live stock route. In addition to this, many perennial weeds with a creeping root system such as quack grass can be much more easily eradicated if the land is seeded down and left in pasture for a few years until it becomes sod brand.

They say that absence conquers love, but that doesn't apply when money is the thing that's absent.

NEW C.N.R. HOTEL FOR VANCOUVER

The finest hotel on the Pacific coast is now under construction in the heart of Vancouver for the Canadian National Railways. The excavation for the foundations has been completed and the steel contract awarded and work will be pushed vigorously until the hotel is ready. This fine building, which will occupy a prominent place in the downtown section of the city, will be known as The Canadian National Railways Hotel. It will contain five hundred bedrooms and will be wholly modern in all its facilities. Particular attention will be paid to banquet and convention hall facilities. The photograph shows the architect's conception of the new hotel as it will appear when completed.

"Pa, you bought slater a piano; can't you buy me a season pass to the baseball games?"

"Well, son, I don't know about a pass for the season."

Ethel: She says men haven't altered a bit, Dad.

A Jewish father, wishing to teach his little son a lesson, placed him on the bookcase and told him to jump in his daddy's arms. The following conversation took place:

"Now Able, jump in papa's arms."

"But, papa, it's so far; I'm afraid."

"Able! do you want papa to lick you? Jump in papa's arms; come on, jump to papa."

Able still hesitates but finally jumps. His father quickly steps aside and lets little Able crash to the floor.

Then the father says to his son: "Now, Able, that'll teach you never to trust nobody."

These cars are given over entirely to the use of the passengers and contain, among other things, two green-tiled shower baths, a ladies lounge, a large smoking-room, an observation lounge and a Solarium. This latter, which takes the place of the open platform is glazed with vitreous glass, which admits all the beneficial sun rays, and permits an unbroken view in luxurious comfort. OLD AGE PENSIONS

(Research Bulletin)

You are all more or less aware of the controversy waged between the Provinces and the Dominion as to who should undertake the financial responsibility of Old Age Pensions in Canada; how it was felt by the Provinces that the Dominion with its unlimited fields of taxation and its mounting revenues as the direct result of increased trade and commerce in the Dominion and the attendant general prosperity, could much better take care of this obligation than the Provinces with their very limited sources from which revenue could be drawn.

It is my opinion that the question, although most of the Provinces have now come in under the Dominion scheme, principally for the reason that they appreciate the necessity for Old Age Pensions, is not yet settled and that some readjustment of the burden will be necessary. Today it is the case that certain of the Maritime Provinces, where the burden is most extremely onerous, are still hesitating about accepting the Dominion plan.

The Government has decided to place administration of this Act in the hands of the Workmen's Compensation Board. I believe it is the intention of the Board to solicit the co-operation of the officials of municipalities in the matter of completing, and where possible, verifying the application forms which will be supplied to the Secretary-Treasurer of each municipality, together with explanatory printed material and copies of the Act.

The Government has under consideration the proposed regulations, and one important phase of these regulations is that of determining what should be the "residence" qualification. May I suggest that your Convention might well afford time to discuss the question of what should constitute "residence" for the purpose of this Act, and assure you, insofar as I am concerned, that any recommendations that may be agreed upon will receive our most careful and sympathetic consideration.

In conclusion allow me to wish you every success in your deliberations at the forthcoming Convention, which I hope to be able to attend.

Minister, Dept. of Municipal Affairs.

"T.B." Cases Get Free Treatment

(Research Bulletin)

At the session of the Legislature of Saskatchewan which closed last month, the Government introduced a bill to provide sanatorium treatment for all tuberculosis cases free.

The Government provides the institution and gives $1 a day per patient for maintenance. The several municipalities in the Province have requested the privilege from the Government of paying the rest.

Reading the above excerpt from the Bulletin of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association brought poignantly to the mind of the writer two recent cases in Alberta. In one of these, a most respected citizen, veteran of the War, came rushing to me as Town Clerk one morning before 8 a.m., asking that I sign the paper necessary for admission of his daughter to the Alberta Sanatorium.

So anxious was he to get his daughter off by the early train that he had not read or understood that the chief clause I had to sign stated that the Town would be responsible to the Sanatorium for the account, which in a case of T.B. is an unknown quantity, in some cases running from $350 to $650, according to the number of months it takes to effect a cure.

No provision being made to take care of an expenditure or liability such as this, I had to explain that neither the Mayor or myself, as Clerk, could sign the paper without authority from the Council.

Then the well-worn tale had to be told that dealing with the public monies the Council even had to watch carefully how it disbursed the citizens' money. The result was that though the mother and daughter, after waiting weeks until a bed was available at the Sanatorium, when they received the word to come could not go, but were held up until ultimately all the formalities had been dispensed with and the financial arrangements concluded.

Now everyone knows that time in the case of T.B. is more than the essence. It is everything in the case. In the other case which happened in my experience, embarrassing questions, providing securities and guaranteeing payments increased the worry and added to the misery of both

The Lake Windermere Bungalow Camp which was the first of its kind established in the Canadian Rockies will this year be transformed into a Ranch-Camp for girls under the direction of Miss Mary E. Cooke, of Chicago, who have had considerable experience in the management of such Camps and have selected this as an ideal spot for girls desiring an active outdoor life, com-

The staff includes instructors in riding, swimming and camp-craft, in addition to teachers of handicrafts and painting, and the course will include participation in the annual four-day cross country ride of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies. parents and patient by the unfortunate delays in securing treatment for this dread disease.

Could the Union of Alberta Municipalities not take this matter up with the Minister of Health and see if the conditions for admittance to the Sanatorium could not be modified somewhat, so that when a Doctor diagnoses a case of T.B. as urgent and room is available at the Sanatorium, the monetary question should not stand in the way or cause delay. C.N.R. APPEAL DAMAGE SUIT BY BRODY'S LIMITED

Hearing of the appeal of the Canadian National Railways against the judgment of Mr. Justice Ford, who awarded Brody's Limited $147,150.00 damages as the result of a fire on 103 street in May, 1928, commenced before the Alberta appeal court Tuesday morning with Chief Justice Harvey presiding, together with Mr. Justice Clarke and Mr. Justice Lunney.

Argument will likely occupy the next two days as the appeal books are in two volumes containing 884 pages.

Brody's Limited carried on business at 103 street as importers and jobbers, and general merchants. The ground floor of the building was used as a garage in which trucks owned by the railway company were stored. On the afternoon of May 11, 1928, a fire broke out in the garage which originated during the cleaning of an engine with gasoline. As a result of the conflagration which followed, Brody's Limited suffered a loss totalling in excess of $147,000.00.

The action came to trial in February and lasted six days. On April 6 Mr. Justice Ford handed down a lengthy judgment in which he found that the fire had been caused through the negligence of a servant of the railway company. Gasoline fumes had become ignited from a short-circuit spark.

H. H. Parlee, K.C., and S. B. Woods, K.C., are acting for Brody's Limited, while N. D. Maclean, K.C., and Ted Kane are counsel for the railway company.

PRINCESS PATRICIA'S BAND AT EDMONTON EXHIBITION

One of the most interesting features of the Edmonton Exhibition, 50th anniversary celebration, July 15 to 20, will be the daily concerts given by the band of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

This regiment which distinguished itself so greatly during the Great War, was, in order to perpetuate its name, made a unit of the Canadian permanent force at the close of the war.

Everywhere in the States Captain T. W. James, the musical director and the members of the Band were received with the greatest enthusiasm, and there was no limit to the praise given their playing. In London, England, the visit of the band was prolonged by request, concerts were crowded, and the band's programs were broadcasted to the pleasure of millions of listeners.

There are few people who have not heard or read some of the tales of the "Arabian Nights" and are aware of their delightful oriental setting, serving as a vehicle for all kinds of colorful effects and brilliant costumes.

These stories will be the theme of the grand evening program to be given every evening at the Edmonton Exhibition, and with a thousand performers participating, the program is going to be a very magnificent affair.

As the performance proceeds a brief summary of the stories will be given over the loud speakers in front of the grand stand so that the audience will be able to follow the thread of events. Music and lighting effects will add to the brilliancy of the scenes.

I KNOW SOMETHING GOOD ABOUT YOU

Wouldn't this old world be better, if the folks we meet would say, "I know something good about you," And then treat us just that way?

Wouldn't it be fine and dandy, if each handshake, warm and true, Carried with it this assurance, "I know something good about you?"

Wouldn't life be lots more happy, if the good that's in us all Were the only thing about us That folks bothered to recall?

Wouldn't life be lots more happy, if we praised the good we see? For there's such a lot of goodness In the worst of you and me.

Wouldn't it be nice to practice That fine way of thinking too? You know something good about me! I know something good about you! —Selected.

EIGHTY-FIVE DEGREES IN THE SHADE AND BABY

It is 85 in the shade as this is being written with every prospect of being warmer. Half an hour ago a young mother was giving her baby an airing in its buggy. Mister baby was far from happy and didn't mind letting every one know it. Mother was dressed in a cool white sleeveless dress and wearing a shady hat. Baby was wearing a hot woollen close fitting hood tied under his protesting little chin. He was tucked tightly into the buggy with several layers of blanket, and on the top of that a nice warm woolly shawl, and although they could not be seen, it is almost certain he was wearing woollen stockings. Comparing mother's warm day outfit with baby's, is it any wonder his protests were loud and long?

Baby feels the heat just as much as mother does and suffers more because he cannot make himself comfortable. He has to wait until someone else thinks to do it. In the summer heat baby's clothes should be the minimum. If a mother has any doubt, let her slip her hand inside baby's clothes and if the little body feels moist, then he is too warm. Cloth lightly and cover lightly so that the air may circulate freely over his skin. This keeps him cool. Give him cool boiled water between feeds. He gets thirsty too during hot days. Do these things and a happy contented baby will be the result. For "Summer care of Babies," send to the Canadian Red Cross Society, 407 Civic Block, Edmonton, Alta.

A kind-hearted man, called together several of his friends and said: "This poor fellow has so much faith in the Lord that he expects Him to send the $50 right away. We shouldn't let him be disappointed. Let's make a collection for him." This was done, and $42 was contributed, which sum was sent to the ingenious petitioner.

Next day the colored man handed the parson another letter. This one ran: "Dear Lord, de nex' time you send dis darkey money, don't send it through no parson—send it to me direct."

WITH THE HOLT Combined Harvester

Harvest time used to be a period of worry and heavy expense—an army of harvest hands to be paid and fed—waste of time—with grain profits slipping away in wages, binder twine, grain lost through rehandling and though bad weather conditions.

The Ideal City Solicitor

(Research Bulletin)

These few rambling remarks are about that much mis-understood member of the Municipal family, the City Solicitor. The title it will be noticed, is "The Ideal City Solicitor," and it is pleasant to reflect on a City Solicitor attaining to the "ideal," because after all, such a wondrous being exists perhaps only in the imagination. Were he to make his appearance, then indeed would the Millennium have arrived, and in that event of course, there would be no need of Solicitors, ideal or otherwise.

There are some misguided people, who out of the fullness of their ignorance, declare they can see no use in a City Solicitor at all. With these we cannot bother, because every right thinking man and woman will admit that he does fulfill a very useful and necessary function in the scheme of things. There are solicitors and solicitors, and just how near any particular one approaches the ideal, is largely a matter of opinion. Still there are certain qualities a City Solicitor should possess if he is not to make an unwholesome mess of things, and plunge the Civic authorities into a mire of difficulty and costly litigation.

First of all there is his personal appearance. Should he be tall and slim, displaying a well defined waist line, or should he be short and stout, with a pleasing plumpness? Should he be clean shaven, or should he rejoice in hirsute adornment? It may be that a miles an hour through the town, at all times and under all conditions. That is entirely a different matter, and it is in precisely such matters that a good City Solicitor makes himself felt. He just tells them they cannot do it, and by so doing, he is saving the face of the Council, and sustaining the reputation of the town or city.

In the Book of Proverbs it is written, "Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies." Substitute ideal City Solicitor for virtuous woman, and lo, he would be sought by all Cities far and near. Mayors would plead for his services, Aldermen would kow-tow to him, and the community at large would rise up and call him great. Then the gentleman himself could render any account he felt inclined to, and it would be paid without a murmur; in fact everyone would insist that it was not nearly enough. So you see, there is a large field for the ideal City Solicitor. Let him cultivate the gift of diplomacy, let him strive to at all times keep the welfare of the community at heart, while doing his duty to the Mayor and Council, and his place is assured in the life of any and every well ordered town, or City. Indeed he will have made himself an absolute necessity, and his services will be well remunerated, and the office will be sought by the best equipped lawyers in that particular community, because it will be a well paid post, and one worthy to be held by other men. Too often the City Solicitor knows less than the people whom he serves, but in striving to attain the ideal, lies the path of the future. In these days of Power Companies, Municipal Hospitals and Town Planning Commissions, it is absolutely necessary to have a well informed man in the position of Solicitor, and that City is wise who insists that the office shall be filled by an able and conscientious man.

W.C.T.U.

The following paper was read at the regular meeting of the W.C.T.U., with representatives present from six other organizations. At the close of the meeting, a committee was formed to look into the charter of Wetaskiwin, to see if it was possible for the Council to ban cigarette and tobacco advertisements.

Friends:

We are here this afternoon for the purpose of considering how best we may make a very grave problem—one that is rapidly becoming increasingly insistent with the passage of time. We know that, allowed a free hand and an unobstructed course, the powers of Greed, Lust and Crime, personified in the great corporations engaged in the merchandising of tobacco, aim at and will acquire a fearful domination over the youth of our land. We see them today bending every effort in an unprincipled and untruthful advertising campaign calculated to ensnare new scores of thousands to the use of their products every month. They are backed by vast financial resources—this may be conceded when we learn that the daily income from the sale of cigarettes is well over a quarter million of dollars. That these vast resources will be used in a manner detrimental to public welfare may be taken for granted, in view of present day methods of advertising in use by the cigarette manufacturers.

This advertising resolves itself into two main classes. The first is the printed and pictorial type and includes the billboards, newspapers and magazines. In essence it is a form of mental suggestion, aimed always at building up in the minds of the readers first the subconscious, and later, the conscious, desire to smoke. If this advertising was conducted on a truthful basis no harm could result from it, for its effect would be to cause the intended victim to turn with a vigorous revulsion from the formation of habits that could only result in wasted health, depraved morals and a narrowed scope of usefulness. But we all know that the advertising of tobacco—particularly of cigarettes—is conducted on no such basis. We find, on the other hand, that it is untruthful, pernicious and misleading, and moreover is intended to be so. No expense or skill is spared to conceal totally that truth and to supplant it with absolute falsehood—both actual and implied.

The other method makes use of the actual goods themselves. The shop window displays, shown as attractively as possible, the different varieties of and, my, what relief I got; soon my skin was as clear as it was before." Manufactured only by The T. M. Burns Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

"smokes." The cigarette holds almost undisputed sway here, for it is in this form that the majority of youthful beginners take up—or, perhaps more fittingly, are taken up by—the use of tobacco. These window displays are changed from time to time to create and sustain the interest of the passer-by.

The one method is intended to—and does—supplement the other. The first suggests the desire, the second offers the easy and immediate gratification of that desire. We have laws prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors—as we ought to have. Yet it is not a fact that the advertising of the cigarette manufacturers constitutes an appeal, and a powerful one, to the minor to smoke, and outwit or evade the law? At its very inception this type of advertising conduces to lawlessness and crime. Its first effect upon your child is to break down his respect and love for law—his only protection. He is made to feel that this law is tyrannical. It is only a short step from this attitude to the point where he comes to regard all law in the same light. To bring about this result the very finest qualities of the boys and girls are played upon to induce this dangerous condition. The generosity of the boy is appealed to, and the girl's desire to play the game, and to be a good sport is perverted artfully to this end.

You send your children to schools to learn to read. They accomplish this by the age of 8 or 9 or 10. Then what are they forced to read on every street corner, and in every window except those of the better class of business houses? What do they read? They read, seductive, enticing lies, reinforced by expert pictorial treatment of the same theme, both designed to implant in their eager, receptive, impressionable minds, aggressive and destructive suggestions, and by the majority of cases ripen into hopeless addiction to the cigarette. Let that point sink home. Expose your child at the age of 8 years, and thereafter, to this attack upon his morality and purity, and by the law of averages he will become an addict to the cigarette before 18, in the majority of cases several years before.

The devastating effect of cigarette upon growing children, especially in the case of teen age girls, is too well known, to need any repetition here. Ask your doctor, and any one of your staffs of teachers, as to the physical and intellectual results. But had as these effects are, they are as nothing in comparison to the blow struck at the moral and spiritual phases of the child's life—at the very foundation of his being.

We are shocked by the evidences of youthful delinquency—we are horrified every little while by gruesome press accounts of outrages committed by boys and girls gone wrong—yet we have been standing with folded hands, making no effort to remove one of the immediate and potent causes of these tragedies. Furthermore, by thus standing passive we tacitly acquiesce in and give our consent and approval to the furtherance of this demoralizing and destructive advertising—thus taking a hand in the work of corruption that we afterwards stand aghast at. Bear in mind also that to date we have not experienced the veriest whisper of the storm that is approaching. Unless the public awakens, we are to experience unbelievably and unbearably bold assaults upon public decency. Do we but allow the tobacco interests to proceed along the trail they have blazed out there are intolerable atrocities yet to be perpetrated against child morality.

The remedy for the situation is to bar all forms of this harmful advertising, both from the outside billboards and from the shop windows. Let us make a supreme effort to get these things put where they belong. Your city council has the power to regulate these forms of advertising, when they reach the stage where they constitute a menace to the welfare of our fine boys and girls. This stage has now been reached. If necessary, in order to control this immoral advertising, the city charter can be and should be amended. Get behind your City Council and support it in this matter. With the proper backing from the parents it can perform a vast service to the children by removing these obtrusive and contemptible efforts of the cigarette manufacturers to enslave them.

How to Establish a Public Library in Alberta

(Research Bulletin)

Chapter 17 of the Statutes of Alberta, 1907, with subsequent amendments, provides an Act for the establishment of public libraries in the Province. The Act is known as "The Public Libraries Act."

It is much to the credit of the Province and particularly to the credit of Hon. A. C. Rutherford, first Premier and Minister of Education, that so early in the history of Alberta, provision was made whereby public libraries could be established whenever and wherever the citizens of a town or city so desired.

It is more than unfortunate that subsequent incumbents of the office of Minister of Education have not seen fit to concern themselves in any way with public library matters.

Consequent upon this indifference, the establishment of public libraries has taken place only in those few localities where a group of citizens have taken up the matter and pressed it to a successful conclusion.

In brief, then, if you want a public library in your town or someone else will have to take the initial steps, without waiting for any encouragement or help from the Department of Education. The department has unwittingly overlooked the fact that "the public library is an integral part of public education." The strong movement now being backed financially and in other ways by the Carnegie Corporation, favoring and urging Adult Education, has not as yet touched the consciousness of our educational leaders.

The Act provides the following steps:

"Upon receipt of a petition praying for the establishment of a public library under this Act and signed by at least one-fourth of the resident electors of the municipality, the council may pass a by-law giving effect to such petition; but such by-law shall not be finally passed by the council until it receives the assent of the electors and for the purpose of obtaining such assent the by-law shall be submitted to the electors in the same manner and with the like proceedings as are required in the case of any other by-law which requires the assent of the electors of such municipality."

"Provided that the by-law shall not be deemed to have received the assent of the electors unless at least three-fifths of the qualified electors who actually vote thereon shall have voted in favor of the by-law."

"A by-law under this Act which has been assented to by the electors may be passed at the first or any subsequent meeting of the municipal council after such assent has been given."

"After a by-law has been assented to it shall be the duty of the council for the time being to pass the same without unnecessary delay, whether such council is or is not the same council which submitted the by-law to the electors."

"Whenever a public library is established under this Act the general management, regulation and control of the library shall be invested in and exercised by a board of management, which board shall be a body politic and corporate and shall be known as 'The (name of town or city) Library Board.'"

In places where the population does not exceed 15,000, the board shall consist of four members besides the Mayor.

The Act provides that the Province shall pay to every public library established under the Act "a grant of one dollar for every dollar expended by the board on the purchase of books, out of funds under its control, other than grants as herein provided, but so as not to exceed the sum of $300 in any one year."

Similarly a maximum grant of $50 for periodicals may be obtained. The writer has been more or less intimately concerned in the establishment of most of the few public libraries we have in the Province. He will gladly assist any person who may require information or advice as to procedure in placing the library in working shape.

The success of our few Alberta public libraries has exceeded all expectations.

Heart Was Affected Could Not Do Any Heavy Work

Mr. Charles M. Stewart, Dungeness, Ont., writes:—"After a very severe case of 'Flu' I was obliged to rest for several weeks."

"My heart was affected and I could not do any heavy work. I had palpitation of the heart and smothering spells, and was so nervous after these spells I hardly knew what I was doing. Hearing a lot about

I decided to try them and 'Presto' what a transformation after, or rather, before the first box was taken, and after taking four boxes I was full of vim and vigor, and fit to do any work."

"I shall never again suffer if H. & N. are within reach, and I only wish others who suffer would give them a trial and the result would be a complete relief."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just the medicine all those who are suffering from any heart or nerve affection need to put them on their feet again.

TAKEN FROM COURT, ALL QUESTIONS OF ASSESSMENTS

Edmonton, Alta., June 22.—Appointment was announced on Friday by Hon. R. G. Todd, provincial treasurer and minister of municipal affairs, of the following to constitute the Alberta Assessment Commission under the provisions of the Alberta Assessment Act, passed at the last session of the Legislature: W. D. Spence, Chairman; John Gair, Killam, and J. Duggan, Edmonton.

The commission will commence to function immediately.

Under the provisions of the act this commission has power to hear and determine all appeals from assessments from a court of review under provisions of the Town Act, 1927; the Village Act, 1927; the Municipal District Act, 1926, and the Improvements District Act, 1927.

In addition it has power to establish equalized assessments for all municipalities; to make any assessments which the commission is by any other statute required to make; to make rules and prescribe forms for the transaction of business and the conduct of hearings and proceedings before the commission; and to make recommendations to the minister as to standards and methods of assessment and to suggest to the minister regulations for the guidance of advisors in making assessments for the purpose of securing a general uniform basis of assessment.

In this setting up a commission the government has provided for one reviewing body for the whole province by which appeals will be heard, whereas heretofore such appeals could be heard only by judges of the district court.

The whole question of assessments will be referred to the commission which will supplement the assessment equalization board.

Under the new order of things the individual will have the right of appeal to the commission and provision also is made whereby any municipalities may appeal to the Board of Public Utilities commissioners against equalized assessment, and shall give the commission 10 days notice of such appeal.

GOVERNMENT TO GAIN HEAVILY FROM AUTO LICENSE

As a result of the legislation passed at the last session of the legislature, by the provisions of which all motor vehicle drivers are required to obtain a license, the provincial treasury coffers are expected to be enriched by $50,000, according to estimates made by government officials.

This sum is arrived at by reason of the fact that 100,000 licenses are expected to be issued at a cost of 50 cents each.

Under the regulations, which become effective on July 1 every motor car driver must carry a license which will be valid until cancelled by the minister. Thus the taking out of such license on a yearly basis such as is done with the motor vehicles is not necessary.

Prior to obtaining a license, a formal application form must be filled in and sent to the department.

The regulations provide that no person under 16 years of age can be licensed to operate a car. If the applicant is between the ages of 16 and 18 the application must be accompanied by the signature of the parent or guardian, who is required to state that the applicant is competent to drive and knows the rules of the road and motor laws of the province.

Should the license issuer be in any doubt, the applicant may be submitted to a driving test, prior to a license being issued. This examination would be carried out by some competent person such as a peace officer. Driving tests will not be required of existing license holders, nor will this be required in the case of new applicants for drivers licenses when it is known expectations. The extensive use of these libraries and the constant demands from all parts of the country for reading material, more than justify in stating that public libraries are most urgently needed in scores of places in Alberta, and that the efforts of a few public-spirited citizens in each locality will meet with an encouraging response. There is a crying demand for good reading matter. Some of us have overwhelming proof that the people of Alberta appreciate good books.

How to Play
BRIDGE

Series 1928-29 by
Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 19

Contract Bridge has been making great progress lately and is now being played in many of the New York Card Clubs. The greatest objection to it as a Club game was the length of the rubber; but now that the game is better understood it is found that the average rubber of Contract is no longer than that of Auction. As a result, it is being played at the Card Clubs almost to the exclusion of Auction and a new Contract Code has now been prepared. The Whist Club of New York was the principal Club back of this movement, but its Committee was assisted by Committees from the Knickerbocker Whist Club, the Racquet and Tennis Club, the Cayuga Club and the American Whist League. Therefore the new Code is a more representative Code than any of the Auction Codes that have preceded it. The fact that these representative Clubs of New York City have recognized the game and have drawn up laws to govern its play is a pretty good indication that Contract is here to stay.

One of the most puzzling questions of bidding at Contract arises when a player holds a two-suited hand. The ordinary rules of bidding such hands at Auction cannot be applied to Contract because the bidding usually is too high to show the other suit on the second round. As a result you must figure out a new way to bid such hands so that you will be able to show both suits without taking unjustifiable chances. Here is a hand that illustrates the difficulty very well:

Hearts—5
 Clubs—K, Q, 10, 8, 4
 Diamonds—A, J, 9, 7
 Spades—Q, 9, 6

No score, rubber game, Z deals and bid one heart. A passed and Y bid two hearts. What is B's proper bid?

At Auction B should bid three clubs

Problem No. 23

Hearts—none
 Clubs—10, 5, 3, 2
 Diamonds—5
 Spades—A, 10, 7

Hearts—9, 8, 7

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y win seven of the eight tricks against any defense? Solution in the next article.

DRAMA OF SEA SALVAGE

WHEN the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France and the Pacific Salvage Company's big steam tug Salvage King rubbed sides near the entrance to Victoria Harbour recently, greetings were exchanged between two principal actors in an outstanding drama of Canadian seamanship. They were Captain Bunker, former master of the freighter Havilah, and Captain J. M. Hewison, master of the Salvage King, the former being a passenger on the giant passenger liner.

Inset: Captain J. M. Hewison of the Salvage King, who is seen with the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of France, North Pacific.

At one time with fifty-foot waves dashing over both vessels and only a fitful moon peering through snow-filled darkness, the deadload of lumber on the 9,000 ton Havilah shifted and her steering gear went awry and she listed over fast. The "S.O.S." and fateful message "We are sinking" went out by Morse to the little 1,000 ton Salvage King. Lifeboats were swung out, and men stood by ready to sever the steel tow line with an acetylene torch.

The freighter survived the storm, however, and was towed through gales and mountainous seas for nine more days to Osaka, Japan, covering 3,100 miles in 25 days. When she met the Empress of France, on which the captain and crew of the freighter were passengers, she was completing a voyage of 10,000 miles after having performed a task that no other salvage vessel on the Pacific had been able to undertake.

GREAT CONVENT BURNING, HUGE BUILDING DOOMED

Montreal, June 24. — Struck by lightning during a violent storm Sunday afternoon, the convent of the Sacred Heart at Sault Au Reclot took fire and was still burning at 10 o'clock last night. One hundred feet of the roof on the east wing of the building had collapsed together with a small central pinnace; part of the walls had become so dangerous that firemen were forced to remove their ladders and, at that hour, it seemed that the whole building, valued at $1,000,000 was doomed.

Twenty-two convalescent nuns were rescued from their quarters and carried through the smoke to safety, while two members of the Montreal fire brigade were injured and asphyxiated and sent to hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Sheets, Mr. J. Elder and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sheets and son Lloyd, of Oshon, spent Saturday and Sunday with Porto Bello friends.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Baylan, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Knepp and Mrs. John Watt, spent Sunday with Mrs. Watt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chelsson.

Out of Business---

Just one of the news items which are appearing in papers quite too often these days throughout the Dominion. And what is the reason. There is only one, and that is lack of loyalty to home institutions and the lure of the flashing publicity of the large city establishments. Many citizens, while earning their wages and salaries in one place, never the less send a large proportion of this money out of the community for questionable bargains, thus depriving such community of that much necessary working capital.

Business Men
Do the Same

They have local firms who are able and ready to supply them with all their requirements, yet for the most trivial reason or excuse they will consent to extend this patronage to outside firms, thus helping to build up distant cities at the expense of their home town. They seem to forget that this money so sent out might otherwise have been largely returned to them by those with whom they should have left this business. Therefore, when in need of printed matter of any kind, whether farmer, business man or professional man, always extend first consideration to

Mrs. Brown: Does your husband object to cats?

Mrs. Smith: "He does indeed. He claims that I feed all the cats in the neighborhood. Won't you stay and have tea?"

GORDON LAPP RESIGNS

The resignation of Gordon Lapp, well-known Provincial secretary of the Alberta Boys' Work Board, has been received by the executive board of the Religious Education Council of Alberta. Owing to the illness of his father, Mr. Lapp will leave for his home in Ontario in September. As successor to Mr. Lapp the Boys' Work Board has chosen Thomas R. Hawthorne, Edmonton, former premier of the Alberta Boys' Parliament.

GOLF DEFINED
Farmer (to friend): I hear, Bert, that while ye were in the city ye took up this here golf. How'd ye like it?

Bert: Well, it ain't bad. It's a bit harder than hoein' turnips an' a bit easier than diggin' potatoes.

CATERPILLARS WORK DAMAGE
Bashaw, June 22.—Caterpillars are taking a heavy toll of vegetation along the Bashaw-Ferintosh road in this district. The trees near the Dorene corner are stripped of nearly all their leaves. Cut worms are also doing much damage in many gardens and from the lakeside farms comes news of an unusually early frost on Wednesday night.UNIFORMITY IN BY-LAWS.
(Research Bulletin)

A few years ago the Secretary-Treasurer of the Union of Alberta Municipalities advanced the suggestion that it would be advantageous to have the by-laws of the towns and villages throughout the Province as uniform as possible. There are certain general principles applicable to every municipality. There may be minor considerations to be provided for necessitated by the peculiarities of local conditions. But in the main, the subject matter and policies embodied in all by-laws could be made uniform in all our towns and villages. Obviously, it should not be accomplished directly through provincial legislative channels. Perhaps it could be done through some committee or board. In any event, the question is worthy of serious consideration. It might be well to discuss it at the forthcoming convention. Think it over. J. D. SAUNDERS.
